

A COLLECTION OF bytestories

A WEBSITE SERVING AS AN ARCHIVE OF MY DIFFERENT ADVENTURES ON PLANET EARTH...

BY CAROLINE KNIGHT

Contents

Story Title	Page
Too much information	2

Too much information

My friend Hannah and I were travelling the 'Gringo trail' in South America a few years ago and along the way we made a couple of travel companions Don, a tough Canadian trucker from the Yukon and Bret, a not so butch guy from Sydney with a distinctive lisp.

We spent a few days with them as they seemed to be taking the same route and we didn't mind their company. One evening in Buenos Aires we decided to stretch the budget a little and go for a decent dinner. We bought a meal each and decided to share them. We were busy tucking into each other's meals when Don decided to get a few beers in for us all. When asked what he wanted Brett said that he wasn't drinking at the moment. When asked why he simply stated "because I have parashhhhhitesshhhh".

Safe to say we had lost our appetites in that moment and Don gave him such an angry tirade of abuse that the moment could not have really been more awkward. We left the restaurant and Hannah and I decided that perhaps Brett & Don from the Yukon weren't the greatest travel companion after all.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina

Why is the website called bytestories.com?

This is a place for "byte-sized" stories and there is a 1500 character (about 250 words) limit for two main reasons. Firstly, we want you to know that "War and Peace" isn't required to leave your mark. Secondly, it takes about 2 minutes to read each story meaning you can head here whenever you want a quick (and entertaining) read.

If you would like to share a story or create your own eBook, simply head to bytestories.com, Register an account and click on the "Share a Story" button.