

A COLLECTION OF bytestories

A WEBSITE SERVING AS AN ARCHIVE OF MY DIFFERENT ADVENTURES ON PLANET EARTH...

BY TINA WEBSTER, M.S.

Contents

Story Title	Page
The Green Card Game: I Married an African Physician	2
About Author	3

The Green Card Game: I Married an African Physician

“You do NOT FALL IN LOVE WITH A NIGERIAN MAN! They are NOT capable of loving even themselves. They can't help it” This is a post quote from, Kanwulia, in response to the introduction video The Green Card Game: I Married An African Physician <http://youtu.be/xUFMyq1fYHg>

FIRST CALCULATION

The first time I heard, “I married you for my convenience,” I did not understand the sentiment behind such a harsh statement. Over time, I began to grasp the true meaning. For instance; out of twelve years, he never once picked me up from the airport. I had to use a town car service. I was too embarrassed to continue asking friends, family, and staff.

WHITE WOMEN

When he told me white women were “better” I thought it was the ultimate betrayal, then he told me he should have married a white woman. Later he showed me just how manipulative, deceitful, and fraudulent his roots could touch me, then I knew why he did not marry a White Woman.

GBI/INS

An INS Agent called, “Are you aware of the meeting you were suppose to attend today”? With a slow response, “I think so.” What I learned later was more profound than a simple meeting. This was the final interview for determining citizenship. Later he introduced me to GBI.

I wanted to believe that an African could need a Green Card, but truly marry for love. I wanted to believe that a person in need of a Green Card did not automatically equate to a fraudulent marriage. I wanted to believe in our love for one another. I WAS WRONG

In Atlanta, GA

About Author

Tina Webster, M.S.

I love the world of online publishing. "You can either be 40 with a degree or without a degree. Don't worry about time. If you are living you will get to 40-Now you choose how you want to live

Why is the website called bytestories.com?

This is a place for "byte-sized" stories and there is a 1500 character (about 250 words) limit for two main reasons. Firstly, we want you to know that "War and Peace" isn't required to leave your mark. Secondly, it takes about 2 minutes to read each story meaning you can head here whenever you want a quick (and entertaining) read.

If you would like to share a story or create your own eBook, simply head to bytestories.com, Register an account and click on the "Share a Story" button.